Estimating mortality indices in gynecological cancer patients: A population-based analysis

Globally, gynecological cancers account for between 10 to 15 percent of all cancers in women. These cancers rank high in incidence and can affect women of all ages. Cervical cancer is the second most common cancer in women worldwide and ovarian cancer is an important malignancy with a very high mortality rate. In Canada, cervical cancer affected approximately 1300 women in 2011, while ovarian cancer affects about 2600 women annually.

The Geoportal of Minority Health

High quality data in health is essential to decision making in health policy and planning. However, data is often missing or incomplete for certain populations. The Geoportal of Minority Health aims to fill these knowledge gaps and improve knowledge about health and access to health services of the Francophone minority population of Ontario. This initiative was established through funding from the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care of Ontario (MOHLTC) in 2013-2014.

Le Géoportail de la santé des minorités

L'information sanitaire de qualité est essentielle à la décision politique et à la planification en santé. Toutefois, cette information est absente ou incomplète pour certaines populations. Le Géoportail de la santé des minorités vise à combler ces lacunes et à améliorer la connaissance sur la santé et l'accès aux services de santé de la population francophone en situation minoritaire de l'Ontario. Il a été mis en place grâce à un financement du Ministère de la santé et des soins de longue durée de l'Ontario (MSSLD) en 2013-2014.

The Lessons Learned from the Knowledge Development and Exchange —Healthy Living Projects/ Leçon apprises à l'occasion des projets du volet development et échanges des connaissances du Programme des modes de vie sains

Highlights from the Knowledge Development and Exchange – Healthy Living Projects

Especially for community based organizations working to promote healthy living practices among those who are most at risk of chronic illness due to unhealthy weight or physical inactivity. Health communicators, health promotion specialists, programmers in community or not-for-profit organizations may also be interested.

Points saillants des projets du volet Développement et échange des connaissances du Programme des modes de vie sains

Le webinaire est destiné en particulier aux organisations communautaires qui travaillent à la promotion d'un mode de vie sain parmi les personnes qui sont les plus à risque de contracter des maladies chroniques en raison de leur poids ou de leur inactivité physique. Il pourrait également intéresser les spécialistes en communication et en promotion de la santé, ainsi que les programmeurs dans les collectivités ou les organismes sans but lucratif.

How do I get a Health Status Report Off the Shelf? Moving Equity into Action!

Don't miss this opportunity to learn about effectively integrating health equity into population health status reporting processes, and moving data into action.

Population health status reports are an essential tool in Canadian public health practice – they have been especially useful for realigning public health priorities and supporting action on injury and chronic disease prevention. In order to describe the health of a population, and paint an accurate picture of the issues confronting communities, a health unit (or regional health authority) needs the best available data, along with local knowledge.
