About Israel

There are 7 million people living in Israel. Approx 77% are Jews, 18% are Arabs and the rest are from other religions or ethnic background.

Israel enjoys long, warm, dry summers (April-October), the weather is humid on the coast and dry in the hill regions. During the summer, the temperatures are soaring.

Israel offers a great variety of scenery and attractions and is appealing for people from all ages. There are many festivals, shows, and events that take place in the summer time.

Night-life is busy, especially in Tel Aviv, where bars and clubs are usually full with young people all night long.

Jerusalem

Jerusalem is the capital and largest city of the State of Israel.

Jerusalem is the holiest city of Judaism but in addition it's a heterogeneous city and represents a wide range of national, religious and socioeconomic groups.

Jerusalem plays an important role in three major religions: Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, as well as in a number of smaller religious groups. A large number of places have religious significance for these religions, among which the Temple Mount and its Western Wall for Jews, the Church of the Holy Sepulcher for Christians and the Al-Aqsa Mosque and Dome of the Rock for Muslims, Muslims also regard Jerusalem as the location of the third holiest site of Islam. Jerusalem is a tourist city, its culture life is verified, there are many historical site along with attractions like: The old city of Jerusalem, Jerusalem center around Ben Yehuda streets, the various museums, the biblical zoo, the city of David, Unique neighborhoods as Mishkenot Shananim, Ein Kerem, Mea Shearim and the German colony and Malha center.

Tel – Aviv

Is the second largest city in Israel and is located on the coast of the Mediterranean Sea. It is also the main part of the largest and most populous metropolitan area in Israel. Tel Aviv has a Mediterranean climate with hot summers and cool, rainy winters. Tel Aviv is nicknamed "the city that never stops" meaning that the nightlife goes on until morning, bars are very trendy at the moment as the main nightlife outing, and also pubs and music clubs are in. Restaurants and cafés are also open at least until midnight. All the west side of Tel-Aviv is one long beach - they are named differently because of the street of the hotel near, but mainly they are all the same. Popular beaches are Hof Hatzuk, Gordon beach, Sheraton Beach, and Frishman beach.

Eilat

A resort town of 20,000 and bustling port, combining sea and desert, Eilat lies at Israel's southernmost tip. The sun always shines in Eilat; it rains about a half dozen days a year. Eilat is blessed with everything that makes a perfect vacation - beautiful mirror-like sea, lively beaches, seafront bars and restaurants, first-rate hotels, all kinds of water sports, spectacular underwater world and coral reefs, diving clubs, desert treks, camel tours and even swimming with dolphins. Eilat is a great place for water skiing and swimming. The calm surface of the sea is also ideal for boating activities: sailboats, rowboats, kayaks and motorboats. The main attraction of Eilat is diving in the Red Sea, one of the world's most spectacular underwater preserves. here are brightly colored coral and fish and everything from a venomous lionfish to a moray eel to a shark to a sea turtle to a manta ray.

Kibbutz

A unique social and economic framework, the kibbutz grew out of the pioneering society of the early 20th century and developed into a permanent rural way of life based on egalitarian and communal principles. It set up a prosperous economy and distinguished itself with its member's contributions to the establishment and building of the state. In the pre-state period and during the early years of statehood, the kibbutz assumed central functions in settlement, immigration, defense and agriculture.

Today's kibbutz is the achievement of four generations. The founders, motivated by strong convictions and a distinct ideology, formed a society with a unique way of life. Their children, born into an existing social structure, worked hard to consolidate the economic, social and administrative basis of their community. The present generation, which grew up in an established and prosperous society, faces the challenges of modern life.
