

UM | Institute for the Humanities

Marusya Bociurkiw's War Came to My Home

FILM SCREENING AND DISCUSSION

War Came to My Home is set in an undisclosed location in Lviv, Ukraine, where approximately twenty women gather to weave camouflage nets for the Ukrainian army. What first appears to be a peaceful craft workshop gradually reveals itself as a space shaped by war, volunteering, solidarity, and everyday resistance. Structured to evoke the rhythm of a long afternoon, the film gradually reveals the women's individual reasons for being there and offers an intimate perspective on how the Russian-Ukraine war enters domestic, communal, and emotional life.

Thursday, October 22
2:30 P.M.
409 Tier Building

Scan here for more information!

This event, organized by the UMIH, counts on the generous support of the Departments of English, Theatre, Film, and Media, and German and Slavic Studies, and it is part of Central and East European Lecture Series.