

ANTI-ABLEISM AND ACCESSIBILITY SPEAKER SERIES

DISABILITY, REVOLUTION? ACCESS, INTERSECTIONALITY AND RESISTENCE IN DISABILITY CULTURE

DR. ROBERT MCRUER

PROFESSOR, GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Dr. McRuer discusses the idea of “one-dimensional disability”, a disability identity that does not consider solidarity with other movements for social justice. In opposition to this, McRuer considers the vibrancy, intersectionality and multi-dimensionality of social justice movements which actively seek solidarity across a range of differences, namely MadPride, disability justice and queercrip culture.
