

Do our creative practices (performing, writing, storytelling) help 2SLGBTQQIA+ people learn to advocate for ourselves and others?

Let's create together and find out!

As part of a research project on the impact of creative expression on community advocacy, a researcher from the University of Manitoba is looking for people interested in participating in a weekly collaborative creative expression (performance, creative writing, whatever!) workshop.

Bus tickets, food, and non-alcoholic beverages will be provided at each workshop or related event.
