

NAVAL HEALTHCARE IN ENGLAND DURING THE NINE YEARS' WAR, 1689-1702

THURSDAY, MARCH 21, 2019 - 2:30 PM
409 TIER BUILDING

Matthew Neufeld

University of Manitoba Institute for the Humanities

Unlike England's constitution and fiscal system, naval healthcare did not experience a revolution during the 1690s. However, the context within which care for seamen was administered and delivered performed, for better and for worse, in qualitatively and quantitatively transformed contexts.

For more information, visit
umanitoba.ca/arts/departments/humanities

UNIVERSITY OF MANITOBA